

Foreword

Since its beginning in 1978, the National Institute for Staff and Organizational Development (NISOD) has sought to serve, engage, and inspire higher education faculty and staff. Our conference, resources, and publications strive to reinforce the importance of teaching and leading and to celebrate instructors, staff, and administrators who make good on the promise of the open door.

In 1989, in connection with a University of Texas national study of teaching excellence, NISOD hosted its first ceremony, held in conjunction with our annual International Conference on Teaching and Leadership Excellence, honoring and naming the individuals featured in this study as recipients of the NISOD Excellence Award. The response to that ceremony was so positive that we decided to begin what has become a celebratory tradition.

Early each academic year, we ask NISOD presidents to submit the names of individuals their colleges wish to recognize for excellence in education. Selection criteria are left to the discretion of each institution. All individuals whose names are submitted are recognized as NISOD Excellence Awards recipients. A special ceremony, featuring a video presentation to honor the recipients, is held on the final day of the annual NISOD Conference; all recipients are featured in the awards booklet and presented with a medallion that has been specially cast in their honor. (Those unable to attend the conference receive the medallion and booklet by mail.)

We are indebted to NISOD colleges for their continuing support of this annual celebration. The Excellence Awards tradition gives NISOD the distinct privilege of honoring so many of our community colleges' best. Community college faculty, staff, and administrators are true heroes in this world. Congratulations, from NISOD, to the 2012 Excellence Awards recipients!

CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR NISOD EXCELLENCE AWARD WINNERS!

Jon Berryman

Associate Professor and Program Chair, EMS Healthcare Professions

Students come to us with the mindset that they want to succeed. It is my mission to provide students with an outline for success and many paths to choose for how they achieve success. The more confident and enthusiastic I am about what I'm teaching, the more engaged the students become.

Raksha Patel

Associate Professor, Developmental Math Academic Support Programs

I believe that each and every one of my students has a dormant love for mathematics. My goal is to awaken that love. When my students leave my classroom, I want them to feel a confidence that will remind them that they can do anything that they set their minds to.

Richard Murgio

Professor and Program Chair, Political Science History Social Science

My job is to give students the opportunity to learn politics and be able to use it to benefit their everyday lives. This is accomplished by building one of the strongest relationships—the student-teacher relationship. I may make a positive change in the lives of my students, who hopefully will go on to make the world a slightly better place.

Anthony Jones

Associate Professor, Biology Science and Math

One of my chief objectives is to teach the content of my course in a way that allows students to responsibly apply it in solving problems, making decisions, and becoming informed and productive citizens in their communities.

Jeanne Barker

Associate Professor and Program Chair Early Childhood Development Technology Professional Programs

I believe that every student has a gift, and it is up to me to provide an opportunity to use that gift. Watching students receive their credential or degree and work in their chosen profession assures me I did something right.

Lisa Beckley-Roberts

Associate Professor, Humanities and Music Communities, Humanities

My students constantly inspire and challenge me to learn more about the subjects that I teach. I have learned that if I am open to hearing them, allowing them to grow and challenging them, they will never cease to amaze me.

Thank you for your exceptional leadership in and out of the classroom.

NISOD

Excellence Award Recipients 2012

Children, and those who touch the lives of children, have always been my priority. My role as a teacher-educator is to guide my students in the understanding that the ideal educational experience for children is to have environments where, not just a few, but all children, teachers and families can benefit. Schools must become places where communities promote harmony and peaceful outcomes, where conflict resolution is practiced, and where power is distributed equally among all people.

- Nancy Tyler Higgins
Professor and Department Chairwoman, Education

When I step into the classroom, I discover over and over again that I learn more from my students than they do from me. Their stories of struggle, their courage, and their honesty remind me that I have the best job in the world. After reading the story of Job from Hebrew Scriptures in a World Literature course, a group of students told me that we can't know true happiness unless we have experienced loss – how's that for wisdom and maturity? As long as I keep teaching, I will keep learning.

- Cathleen McCarron
Professor, English

One of my favorite quotations about teaching is from Mark Van Doren, who said, "The art of teaching is the art of assisting discovery." This quote captures what inspires me in the classroom: Helping students to realize their own potential and thereby develop the desire to continue learning – always.

- Donis E. Tatro
Professor and Academic Clinical Coordinator,
Dental Hygiene

2012 NISOD EXCELLENCE AWARD RECIPIENT

REBEKAH RIOS-HARRIS
PROFESSOR OF ENGLISH
PROGRAM COORDINATOR
CEDAR VALLEY COLLEGE

Professor Rios-Harris has been teaching Developmental Writing and English for the DCCCD for almost twenty years and is Coordinator for the Developmental Writing and English Departments at Cedar Valley College. She is also an adjunct instructor at Dallas Baptist University and teaches at a home-school co-op. Rios-Harris is also a Dallas Police volunteer through Victim Relief Ministries. She has a BA in English and Secondary Education, an M Ed in Educational Administration and an MA in English. She takes her calling seriously and has a committed devotion to educating people for future leadership. She has a wonderful husband and four children of whom she is very proud.

"I believe that teaching is a calling, not just a job, and I answered that call almost twenty years ago with no regrets. My philosophy is students first, and I believe in leading by serving them. It is such an honor, knowing that I have been blessed with the awesome responsibility of educating today's minds for tomorrow's challenges, and I will never take that for granted. My goal is to always give my very best to students and to the institution of which I am a part, changing lives for the better along the way. As a teacher I: Take Education And Create Habits that Ensure Rewarding Results for Students."

Celebrating their higher purpose

Our entire campus congratulates Fiona Dyer, Library Manager, and Keith Dudley, Instructor of General Studies, this year's recipients of the NISOD Excellence in Teaching Leadership Awards. Both instructors have a higher purpose:

"I have always believed that learning is its own reward. The most gratifying part of my job is helping our students gain the skills they need to guide their own learning and experience its rewards for themselves."
-Fiona Dyer

"It is always exciting to watch students achieve goals beyond what they thought was originally possible and to help them discover some of the solutions to their academic concerns. Being recognized for some part in our students' success is a great compliment."

MEDICINE HAT COLLEGE congratulates
Lori Sumners and Sandra Fritz, recipients of the NISOD Excellence Award.

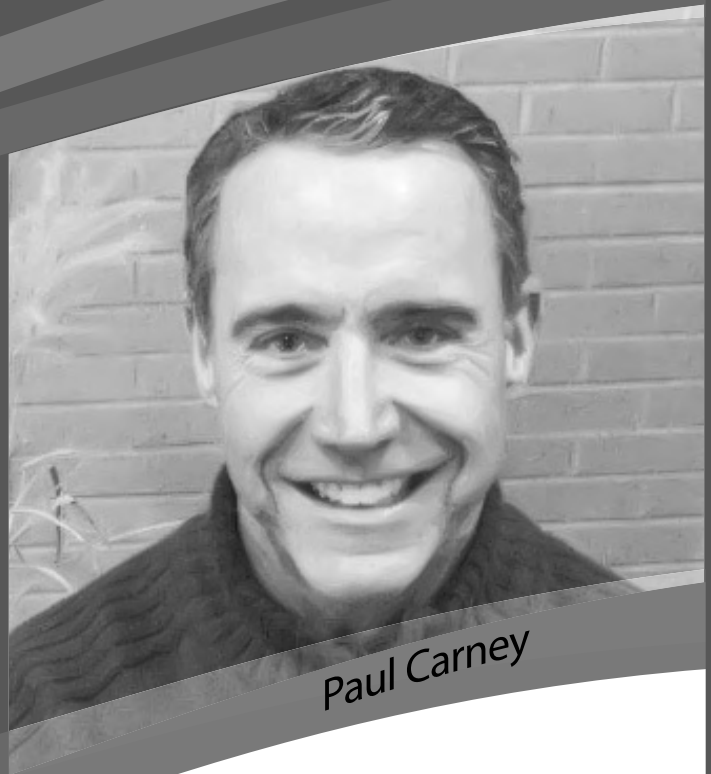

Congratulations!

Minnesota State Community and Technical College is pleased to be represented by Ramona Caswell (Science) and Paul Carney (English) at this year's NISOD Conference. These instructors exemplify the excellence in teaching and college leadership that M State values. We are proud of your achievements and grateful to have talented colleagues like you on our college team.

Best wishes for a great conference from M State administrators and your faculty colleagues.
