

Foreword

Since its beginning in 1978, the National Institute for Staff and Organizational Development (NISOD) has sought to serve, engage, and inspire higher education faculty and staff. Our conference, resources, and publications strive to reinforce the importance of teaching and leading and to celebrate instructors, staff, and administrators who make good on the promise of the open door.

In 1989, in connection with a University of Texas national study of teaching excellence, NISOD hosted its first ceremony, held in conjunction with our annual International Conference on Teaching and Leadership Excellence, honoring and naming the individuals featured in this study as recipients of the NISOD Excellence Award. The response to that ceremony was so positive that we decided to begin what has become a celebratory tradition.

Early each academic year, we ask NISOD presidents to submit the names of individuals their colleges wish to recognize for excellence in education. Selection criteria are left to the discretion of each institution. All individuals whose names are submitted are recognized as NISOD Excellence Awards recipients. A special ceremony, featuring a video presentation to honor the recipients, is held during the annual NISOD Conference; all recipients are featured in the awards booklet and presented with a medallion that has been specially cast in their honor. (Those unable to attend the conference receive the medallion and booklet by mail.)

We are indebted to NISOD colleges for their continuing support of this annual celebration. The Excellence Awards tradition gives NISOD the distinct privilege of honoring so many of our community colleges' best. Community college faculty, staff, and administrators are true heroes in this world.

Congratulations to the recipients of the

The Tallahassee Community College District Board of Trustees would like to commend our faculty for their invaluable service to the College and its students.

CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR NISOD EXCELLENCE AWARD WINNERS!

Dave DelRossi
Assistant Professor and Chair of Developmental Mathematics

When students feel good about learning, they feel good about themselves as learners, and they begin to see learning as a joy, not a chore! If I can show them that learning can make them “richer” in the richest of ways, which is their own personal satisfaction, then I feel as if I’ve accomplished a whole lot more than giving them a set of math skills.

Kim Manning
Instructional Technologist

One of my goals is helping faculty develop the requisite skills to integrate technology in the teaching and learning process, whether in the online or face-to-face classroom. Through modeling best practices in using Blackboard and technology, faculty are empowered to engage and motivate their students to excel in their assignments and succeed in their coursework.

Margaret Cooksey
Professor and Chair of Computer Technology

Students enjoy learning when they understand how the skill will benefit them. I look for ways to show students how they can use business applications to help them now--while they are in college--and in the future--when they are on the job. It is always rewarding to see that “aha” moment when they realize the relevance of the skill.

Rita Dickey
Library Technical Assistant II

By publishing the TCC Cherry Hall Alexander African-American History Calendar, I strive to educate, inform and inspire our students to exceed expectations and reach beyond their highest goals.

Brandie Oscar
Associate Professor of Developmental Mathematics

I talk to my students about how important it is to have people around them who support their decision to be a college student. I make sure they know that I will be that person. The truest thing I know about teaching is that, “no one cares how much you know until they know how much you care.”

Greg Loyd
Associate Professor of English

The most rewarding part of my job is witnessing the evolution of student writers. I enjoy seeing them approach writing projects with more confidence as they mature in the writing craft. To know that I play a small part in their metamorphosis is truly exhilarating.

Thank you for your exceptional leadership in and out of the classroom.

2013 NISOD EXCELLENCE AWARD RECIPIENT

DAN ROGERS

SPEECH/DRAMA FACULTY
PROGRAM COORDINATOR
CEDAR VALLEY COLLEGE

Professor Dan Rogers teaches Communications and Theatre with the interactive cooperation of his students. Lectures are events; paper airplanes flying around the room, scavenger hunts for quiz answers or pantomimes for content emphasis. A ten year veteran with Cedar Valley College, Dan highlights self-confidence as a key tool to effective communication. His own experiences as a community college student affect his method and technique. Employment in broadcasting kept the bills paid for his Masters from the University of North Texas but Dan never left teaching-keeping his adjunct hands involved at colleges in Arkansas and Texas. One thing is certain-education is never dull when in the neighborhood of this Mr. Rogers.

"A confident student is a better student. A confident student is a better person. A student with self-awareness, honed empathetic listening skills, oral and nonverbal communication expertise, and self-confidence improves our school and our society. I teach confidence. I teach pride. I teach communication." - Dan Rogers

Celebrating their higher purpose

Our entire campus congratulates Karen O'Dwyer, Dean of the Centre for Teaching, Learning and Innovation, and Calvin Whitehead, Chair of the construction trades program, this year's recipients of the NISOD Excellence in Teaching Leadership Awards. Both instructors have a higher purpose:

"It is a privilege to work with colleagues to create and foster an environment that serves and inspires learners. The collective effort of faculty, staff and administration committed to rigorous standards, professionalism and innovation leads to quality learning experiences and lifelong learning."
-Karen O'Dwyer

"In my position as chair, I am privileged each day for the opportunity to enhance the student experience and to assist in my colleagues reaching their goals. I try to be accessible to students and staff alike, striving to create a positive learning environment by being available, listening and offering guidance."
